GUWAHATI: Former prime minister of India, late Narasimha Rao, was remembered on the occasion of his 86th birth anniversary on Tuesday. The city wore a festive look on the occasion. His picture was displayed in the libraries, educational institutions, and other places to pay tribute to the former prime minister. His son Rahul Gandhi also paid homage to his father at the Rashtrapati Bhavan.

Meanwhile, the Assam government has announced the construction of a new bridge over the Brahmaputra river to boost transport and security in the region. The new bridge, which will be built in the city of Guwahati, is expected to reduce the travel time between the two sides of the river. The project is estimated to cost around Rs. 1500 crores and is expected to be completed within three years. The bridge will be a vital link for the transportation of goods and people across the river.

DHNS: Veteran political activist and former paras Rumman, who died on Tuesday, was a prominent figure in Indian politics. He was associated with the Communist Party of India (Marxist) and had played an active role in the struggle for workers' rights. Rumman's contribution to Indian politics was immense, and he will be remembered for his dedication and commitment to the cause of the working class.

Over the years, he had been a vocal advocate for workers' rights and had played an active role in the struggle for political change. His death has left a void in Indian politics, and his contribution will be remembered for years to come.

In an open letter to RSS chief Mohan Bhagwat last week, veteran CPI-M leader and former MLA of Tripura, Chandra Mohaptra, had said that he would be the first choice of the Left Front in the upcoming elections. The Left Front had earlier supported the CPI-M in the 2016 Tripura Assembly elections.

In tributes to Rumman, several leaders and organizations paid their respects, including the CPI (M) and the Left Front. His contributions to Indian politics will continue to inspire future generations.
